DO'S & DON'T FOR STADIUM ATTENDANCE

- Do drink with moderation – alcohol impairs rational behaviour – your bad behaviour impacts on the stadium experience for other supporters.
- Do respect supporters from other teams.
- Do wear your authentic KC colour with pride – wear the home jersey for home games and away jersey for away games.
- Do remember that our ethos is Love & Peace.
- Don't buy tickets from a ticket tout (people selling fake tickets outside the stadium) – this is supporting crime, and you could be arrested if caught doing a transaction with them.
- Don't taunt or tease other supporters and if they taunt you – turn the other cheek!
- Don't fight – this is simply not acceptable and gives Kaizer Chiefs a bad name.
- Don't stand on the railing – you put yourself in danger.
- Don't block stairways and aisles – these need to be clear in case of an emergency.
- Don't invade the field – this is a criminal offence, and you will be arrested – you could even get up to six months jail time and a hefty fine.
- Don't throw missiles onto the field!
- Remember we are one big Family, and we live by the code of Love & Peace – break the code and there will be consequences!

FAMILY RULES

Share the love and hold the peace.

Family members show respect.
As an Amakhosi Supporter when you show respect, you stay part of the family. You uphold the code, and you keep to the rules of belonging to our family.
Respect is part of preserving peace and spreading the love.
Respect yourself, your family, your home, your friends, and your life.
Respect your health and your wellbeing, respect your pleasures and your passions and your dignity.
Respect your club, your coach, and the players.
Respect others.
Respect other clubs, their fans, their property, and their freedom to be different to you.
You love the beautiful game. Look after it.
You wear your colours with pride. As long as you keep the code, you have a right to belong.
If you break the code, you understand that it will be taken away from you.
You keep the code; you share the love and hold the peace.

This is what we expect from our Family!
